IMPORTANT INFORMATION

These prices are exclusive of any taxes

*Electronic journals: EU based subscribers are liable for VAT at the prevailing UK rate, currently 17.5% but increasing to 20% on 4 January 2011. If registered, please send details to avoid unnecessary charges.

#The archive currently includes content from start of publication to 1999 but increases by one year each January, so that from 1/1/2011 content from the year 2000 will be added. There is no annual maintenance fee.

In all cases, a print subscription includes free online access. A ten year back-file to the corresponding title is also included with all current subscriptions, so content from 2001-2010 will be available for the duration of 2011. Subscribers retain perpetual access to any paid volume.

Electronic access

The full text of all Pion journals is available free of charge to subscribers to the print volume – papers are available online approximately 6 weeks before the print version. There is perpetual access to any paid online volume regardless of current subscription status. Access to a 10 year back-file (2000-2010) of the journal is also included for the duration of 2011.

Authentication is by IP address. Librarians should register by visiting <http://www.pion.co.uk/online.cgi> and entering their static IP numbers, customer ID, order number and/or payment reference on the online registration form. Access is via our websites and is usually available within three working days.

Technical difficulties should be reported to online@pion.co.uk, stating ID number, IP address used, title of article and any error message seen.

Subscriptions

All subscriptions are payable in advance. Subscriptions are entered for a complete calendar year, i.e. January – December. Orders and upgrades can be accepted at any time and any back issues already published in the volume will be mailed together.

Archives

The Environment & Planning and Perception archives, launched in 2008, contain over 80,000 articles from start of publication to 2000. One extra year of content is added to the archive each year in January, with no extra charge or maintenance fee. Further information may be found at the link http://www.pion.co.uk/pion_archives.html
